Hotel Vagabond, Singapore

Between the dramatic black, gold, and red color scheme, paintings, and oversize sculptures, Hotel Vagabond's design should be enough to get your creative juices flowing. It's also the first hotel in Singapore to offer an artist-in-residence program, and hosts talents of all genres for weeks or months at a time. In exchange, the artists are expected to interact with guests and share their work. After proper schmoozing, we'd recommend an impromptu movie night at the hotel's Salon-turned-theater, or, better yet, the comfort of your own bed (all guest rooms feature a selection of flicks curated by the hotel's designer himself, celebrated architect Jacques Garcia).
